VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1927

EIGHTEEN PAGES

ZONING LAW FOR OAK BAY ELABORATE

Residence, Apartment, Retail, Garage, Farming and Unrestricted Areas Are Established

SETBACK LINES OFFER FEATURE

Height of Buildings From Ground to Eaves Is Limited and Garages on Street Line Are Prohibited

OAK Bay has decided to join the new but widespread movement of town planning and has now passed a zoning by-law under the powers created this year by the legislature. This movement has its modern origin in Great Britain some thirty years ago when garden cities began to be established. The latter states took up the movement with its accustomed vigor, and today over six hundred communities, including most of the large cities, have adopted town planning schemes. Canada has lagged behind her Mother Country and the United States in this matter, but has the energy of their accumulated experience.

Town planning is a large and important subject, and zoning is merely one of its phases. Among the objects of zoning are the preservation of the amenities of residential districts, the protection of property values, and the provision of healthful light and air around the homes of the people. Without zoning by-law, a person's property may become heavily depreciated almost overnight, and his welfare compromised by the action of some neighbor. For instance, a man may own a valuable home, representing a large part of his savings, and a store or a service station or a small parlor may be erected on the next lot or across the street. Or an apartment block or house may be built right up to his property line, locking the light from his windows. He and his neighbors may possess a series of well-kept and beautiful gardens; taking a pride in their homes and not wishing to impair the value of their own property, they see of them who own cars have placed their garages at the rear of their premises. But some individual, having just bought a lot, decides to put his garage right out in the street line. This garage is sometimes little better than a shed, and the vista along the street is spoiled and the various owners in the vicinity all suffer in greater or less degree. The zoning by-law is intended to prevent such occurrences, and to protect the public interest. Its underlying principle is the greatest good of the greatest number.

MANY COMPLAINTS
The Council has had many complaints recently about garages on adjoining property. There have also been objections to the establishment of apartment houses, stores, or shops in purely residential neighborhoods. But hitherto no Council has been helpless, as no adequate powers existed till March, 1927, to cope with the difficulties arising. During the past few months considerable time and effort have been expended in drawing up a by-law generally suitable for Oak Bay. In certain instances a conflict of interests has been unavoidable, but the whole the by-law should effect a great improvement in existing conditions.

The following are some of the chief features of the by-law. The municipality is divided into districts of six classes, named Residence, Apartment, Retail, Garage, Farming and Unrestricted. In each of these districts there are twenty districts in all, some are quite small; the larger part of Oak Bay is contained within one large residence district.

Higher Court to Pass on Validity Of Fisheries Act

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—A higher court will be asked to determine the validity of sections 7A and 18 of the Fisheries Act, it was stated tonight at the Department of Marine and Fisheries. The attention of officials of the department was drawn to the judgment of Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald declaring sections of the Act ultra vires of the Dominion Parliament. The officials agreed that the decision was a most important one. Section 7A, it was stated, required fish canneries to obtain a licence from the Federal authorities. Under section 18, salmon canneries are assessed four cents a case for sock-eye and three cents a case for other salmon packed.

BANDIT ROBS TWO MINISTERS

Belgian and Czechoslovakian Ministers to Peking Held Up at Point of Pistol While on Trip

BYSTANDERS NOT EAGER FOR FRAY

PEKING, Sept. 23.—The Belgian minister, de Warzee d'Hermelle, and M. Halle, Czechoslovakian minister, were held up and robbed at the point of a pistol today.

The two ministers were returning from a motor trip to the Ming tomb to the north of the capital, when they stopped to take a photograph. A bandit suddenly appeared, and thrust a pistol into their faces, demanding their valuables. They handed over their rings, gold watches and money. The robber carried off their waistcoats which were in the car.

Some other Chinese stood by and watched the affair and made no attempt to assist.

Fire Breaks Out in Liner's Coal Bunkers

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Fire broke out at 3:10 p.m. in the bunkers of the Blue Funnel Line S.S. Proteus, lying alongside Ballantray wharf. The fire was extinguished before any material damage was done.

FIVE MORE AIR RACES DECIDED

Average Speed of 177 Miles an Hour Made by Naval Plane in 120-Mile Contest

RAY WINS BOTH 80-MILE DASHES

SPOKANE, Sept. 23.—Flashing across the finishing line first in two of the five national air races today, James Ray, of Wilkes, Pa., was the star performer of the opening day programme of the seventh annual national contests. Prizes of $1,000 for first in the Seattle Chamber of Commerce trophy event of eighty miles, and $500 for first in the Aviation Town event, Country Club speed and efficiency race, also eighty miles, went to Ray.

Sharing honors with Ray were Ballough, Chicago, and C. W. Holman, St. Paul, who captured second and third places respectively in the races won by Ray.

Ballough's two seconds won him $500, and Holman's third places brought him $300. Holman, the winner in the New York to Spokane class A derby this week and Ballough took second in the class A derby.

Ray made an average speed of 138.394 miles an hour in his Pitts-Cairn Sequencing plane in the Aviation Town and Country Club event, and an average of 136.145 in the Seattle race.

HIGH SPEEDS

In one of two military races, the Navy outclassed the Marine Corps. Three planes from the San Diego base taking the first three places, with two Marine planes from Quantico, Va., finishing fourth and fifth. Lieutenant T. P. Gier won the 120-mile event around a ten-mile course with an average speed of 177.04 miles an hour.

First honors in the other military event were captured by Lieutenant I. W. Woodring, of Selfridge Field, who made an average of 154.412 miles an hour for sixty miles around a six-mile course.

OTHER RACES

The third commercial race of the day, a speed and efficiency event for the Detroit News trophy, saw F. M. Hawks, Houston, Tex., first across the finishing line to take a $750 prize. He averaged 104.837 miles an hour. Planes in this race carried 1,000 commercial weight.

Stunt flights by army and civilian planes and numerous parachute jumps were made between the races. The parachute championships will be decided tomorrow.

RENE FONCK INVITED

An invitation, asking Rene Fonck, French war-time ace, to make a nonstop flight to Spokane was sent this afternoon by the National Air Derby Association. It was explained that no race and no prize would be involved.

One of These Men May Be National Leader

The Conservative party of Canada will elect a leader at the National Convention to be held in Winnipeg within the next month. The names of many prominent Conservatives have been mentioned in connection with this position, among them being those above, namely (top, left to right): Hon. J. D. Stewart, ex-Premier of Prince Edward Island; Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario; Hon. Robert Rogers; General A. D. McRae; Hon. R. B. Bennett; Hon. C. H. Cahan; Hon. E. N. Rhodes; Hon. H. H. Stevens; Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who has led the Conservative Party in the absence of a permanent leader; Hon. C. H. Cahan, and Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Prime Minister of Nova Scotia.

PEACE RIVER IS IMPRESSIVE

Financial Expert Is Surprised at Favorable Conditions Prevailing in New Area of Settlement

PRAIRIE HARVEST PROCEEDS BRISKLY

"The man who goes on the prairies today uses care in the choice of soil in selecting his farm, employs intelligent farming methods, and applies himself in the carrying on of operations, will make money," according to Mr. Morley Aylsworth, general manager of the Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation and the Canada Trust Company, which have their headquarters jointly in London, Ont.

Mr. Aylsworth is now on a tour of Western Canada in the interests of his companies, and was in Victoria yesterday. This trip is made annually about this time for the purpose of investigating the situation in a commercial and industrial way. He is well pleased with the situation, and says that with the crop assured on the prairies this season there will be a substantial reduction made in the mortgages held by his company there.

MORTGAGES IN B.C.

In the Province of British Columbia, where the companies have been operating for less than a year, the mortgage business is in excellent shape, he says. There is already loaned by the company on mortgages something like three-quarters of a million dollars. The business that has been done is very satisfactory.

Trade Envoys Will Come to City in October

Two Canadian Trade Commissioners will visit Victoria next month. Mr. Harrison Watson, of London, England, will divide the period from October 10 to 20 here and in Vancouver, while in the period from October 18 to October 19 the same cities will be visited by Mr. G. B. Johnston, trade commissioner for Scotland and Northern Ireland.

LABORITES CLAIM PARTY INCREASES

Annual Report Issued Shows Some Growth in Membership and in Allied Organizations

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The growth of the Labor party is shown in the party's annual report which was issued today in preparation for the annual conference, to be held at Blackpool next week. The report shows that the total affiliated membership of the party at the end of last year was 3,388,000, an increase of 4,000 as compared with the previous year, while the members of the divisional and local Labor parties and trades councils associated with Labor party was increased by over 100 to 3,420, despite the withdrawal of the National Union of Seamen and of the postoffice workers, the latter owing to the operation of the Trade Unions Act.

The executive decided to recommend the re-election of the finding at the Liverpool conference in 1925 that birth control "should not be made a political issue but should remain a matter on which members of the party should be free to hold and promote their individual convictions."

Soviet Proposes New Way to Pay Old French Debt

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The Soviet proposals on debt payments and merchandise credit, upon which the declaration was made in Moscow that the French and Soviet delegations had agreed, were delivered in Paris tonight. The documents show that the Soviet Government wants one and two-thirds times as much credit as it pays on the debts during the first six years. The French indicated that their limit was credits equal to payments during a five-year period.

Wild Scene Off Stage

BUDAPEST, Sept. 23.—Frenzied as being disturbed by the talking of a woman singer off duty to a friend during an opera performance, Eugene Kaimar, musical composer, tonight fought with an official who went to remove him for offending the singer. A panic in the theatre resulted, and a dozen women fainted after the official's arm had been bitten until blood flowed. Kaimar was removed with difficulty from the theatre, while many persons were hurt in the scuffle and resulting crush.

MR. DE VALERA CHANGES TUNE

LEADER OF FIANNA FAIL PREACHES AMITY AND SWEET REASONABLENESS

His Party Will Not, He Says, Oppose Any Useful Proposal of Government's

CORK, Ireland, Sept. 23.—Mr. Eamon de Valera, Republican leader and head of the opposition to the government, together with several other political leaders, tonight attended a conference to consider the economic position of Ireland and the question of conciliation and unity. The conference was called by the chairman of the Cork Harbor Board. President Cosgrave, who also was invited, did not put in an appearance.

Later Mr. de Valera addressed a big demonstration, declaring that the object of his party, the Fianna Fail, was to abolish the memory of recent events, although there was no likelihood of unity in the immediate future.

At any rate, he said, his party would not oppose in the Dail any measures introduced by the government which the party believed was for the benefit of the people.

BLOEDEL TO BE LINKED SOUTH

Telephone Service Will Be Extended Into Important Logging Area Near Campbell River

BETTERMENTS AUTHORIZED

The telephone service for long distance calls is to be extended to Bloedel on the East Coast, north of Campbell River. It is announced by Mr. F. C. Paterson, district commercial superintendent, on his return last evening from an up-Island tour in company with Mr. G. H. Halse, president of the B.C. Telephone Company, that the company has arranged with Bloedel, Stewart & Welch interests, to link up their local service by constructing a line from the exchange in Campbell River, located at the Willows Hotel, along the Campbell Lake Road to join the lumber company's lines. This communication, which has been desired by the logging companies in the area for the past two years, has been rendered feasible by the building of the bridge for the logging line near the Elk Falls, crossing the river above the Falls about half a mile westerly.

PLANE DISASTER STIRS GERMANY

AMBRASSADOR TO U.S. AND FIVE OTHERS KILLED IN WRECK

Four Die Instantly—Exact Cause of Accident Not Determined—Wing Seen Crumpling

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Baron Ago von Maltzan, German ambassador to the United States, and five others were hurled to death today when an airplane in which the baron was flying to meet his wife and child crashed to earth near Schleis, in Thuringia. The accident, one of the worst in German commercial aviation's history, has plunged the German nation into grief and aroused indignation in German flying circles.

The plane was one operated by Lufthansa, the Government subsidized aviation company. It was of the Dornier-Merkur type and had been in operation for several months. Mechanics inspected it this morning before it left for Berlin, and so far the exact cause of the accident has not been determined. An eyewitness told of seeing the plane over Schleis and of how a wing crumpled as the plane plunged to earth. The pilot in charge was W. Charlett, a trusted navigator, who had been a pilot since 1922 and had flown more than 150,000 miles for Lufthansa without an accident. The inability of aviation authorities to establish a definite cause of the accident gave rise to rumors that sabotage was responsible. Officials of Lufthansa said there was no foundation for this report.

Heart Trouble Causes Death During Fight

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—One man died and another was seriously injured during the exciting period of the Dempsey-Tunney fight last night. James K. Chilson, seventy-seven, of Eagle Rock, a suburb, was stricken with heart trouble during the seventh round of the bout and died almost immediately. Frank Cox, twenty-one, was taken to the receiving hospital with an ice pick plunged into his back up to the hilt. He said he got it in a crowd while he was cheering for one of the fighters. He probably will live, physicians said.

Armistice Day To Be Observed On November 7

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Monday, November 7, will be observed as Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day throughout Canada. A proclamation to this effect appears in the current issue of The Canada Gazette.

Rash Ministry Would Regulate Dress of Girls

BUDAPEST, Sept. 23.—What the well-dressed girl students in night schools shall wear this season has been decided by the Hungarian Government.

A Government order issued today decrees that all girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, who attend night schools in any part of the country, shall wear skirts that do not fall less than four inches below the knee.

The order also prohibits the students from wearing low-necked dresses, silk or flesh-colored stockings or short sleeves. Skirts must be uniformly blue and pleated, and cases of blue under fourteen must at least cover the line.

Ottawa States Plan to Promote Aviation by Free Planes for Flying Clubs

Larger Centres of Dominion to Be Encouraged to Form Associations for Light Flying—Each to Be Given at Outset Two Planes for Use in Instruction

Additional Planes Will Be Supplied On Certain Conditions, if Required

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Announcement that the Department of National Defence is prepared to assist in the establishment of light airplane flying clubs in the larger centres of the Dominion was made tonight by Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister in charge of this department. The general scheme is that the department will issue to each approved and duly incorporated club or association two light airplanes free of charge, on condition that the club or association will make provision for its own resources for the adequate housing, repair and maintenance of the aircraft, and a suitable field or seaplane station for their operation. The club must also provide for the services of a duly qualified instructor to supervise the flying, and a licensed air engineer for the maintenance of the aircraft in an airworthy condition.

MR. C. A. BOGERT INSPECTS BANK

Veteran Banker Has No Anxiety About Control of Canadian Banks by American Stockholders

It is further proposed that, should the demand for flying instruction exceed the capacity of the two aircraft so issued, the department may issue in each year one or more, further light airplanes, provided that the association or club has from its own resources supplied a similar aircraft of an approved type.

As already reported in The Colonist, two projects are under way for the establishment of flying schools in this city. One of these projects, after a careful investigation of conditions in the United States, is already well advanced. The other proposes to bring here an experienced aviator who has already done much work in forestry reconnaissance in the interior of this province.

ISLAND INDUSTRY REQUIRES SUPPORT

Bringing an optimistic report upon western conditions, in view of the harvest, Mr. C. A. Bogert, vice-president and general manager of the Dominion Bank, arrived here yesterday with Mr. F. L. Patton, of Winnipeg, assistant general manager, on a periodical inspection tour of the branches, and will remain until this evening.

In answer to a question with regard to the much talked of trust in New York for the purchase of Canadian chartered bank stocks, Mr. Bogert, who is the senior general manager of banks in this Dominion, made the reassuring statement that about seventy-five per cent of the stocks are held in Canada, controlling Canadian banks.

The bank stocks are extensively distributed over the British Empire in small blocks, and are held for dividend bearing, not for speculation, he points out. As a rule there is no disposition to sell such holdings. He does not believe there is a Canadian bank in which any group holds as much as ten per cent.

LEAGUE OF WEST TO MEET IN CITY

WESTERN CANADA DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE TO HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Proposal Is That Annual Council Follow Immediately After Nanaimo Gatherings

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Invitations are now being issued by Mayor L. D. Taylor for the annual conference of the Western Canada Development League and the Union of British Columbia Municipalities. The league membership embraces mayors, reeves, aldermen and councillors of the four Western provinces. Numerous government department heads from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are also being asked to attend the forthcoming conference. Among the important questions which will be discussed by league members in Victoria next month, Mayor Taylor states, will be inter-provincial trade, highways, freight rates, immigration and other topics of vital importance to the prairie provinces and British Columbia. Outstanding men in these spheres will deliver addresses during the three-day meet.

British Flyer Makes World's Speed Record

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The International Aeronautical Federation tonight notified the Royal Aero Club that the world's speed record for light planes had been granted Capt. H. S. Broad, of Great Britain, who made a speed of 186.47 miles an hour, flying at Edgeware on August 24.

IRISH PLAYWRIGHT RUNS TRUE TO FORM

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Mr. Sean O'Casey, who quit laying bricks to write plays, was married today in London to Miss Eileen Carey in a wedding costume as unconventional as the rest of his life. The Irish playwright, whose play Juno and the Paycock, brought him fame and money, led his bride to the altar in the Church All Saints and the Redeemer in Chelsea in a lounge suit, a pullover and a soft slillar. The only concession the Irish playwright made to the occasion was in the matter of a hat. He laid aside his customary cap for a grey felt hat. Mr. O'Casey arrived at the church twenty minutes ahead of time. He paced up and down nervously awaiting Miss Carey's arrival. Miss Carey, a pretty actress who had appeared in several of O'Casey's plays, was dressed in a blue coat trimmed with light grey fur, which covered a dress of the same shade and was capped with a hat of the same color. The ceremony lasted four minutes.

LEADER OF LIBERAL WOMEN MAKES VISIT

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Margaret Winttingham, leader of the Women's Liberal Association in Great Britain, and former member of the House of Commons, is in Toronto today. "In England almost a million pounds a day is spent on liquor," she declared, adding that she was convinced that prohibition had stopped a lot of drinking in the United States. She is on a pleasure trip and left for Ottawa tonight.

Three Inches of Snow

SASKATOON, Sept. 23.—Heavy snowfall at Prince Albert, Tisdale, Meifert, Dana, Nipawin and three inches or more of snow was reported at many other places was reported by telegraph companies here tonight. At the northern points mentioned three and four inches or more of snow was reported. Many places reported cold weather and rain.

LAND ACT CASE BEFORE COURT

Magistrate Jay Reserves Decision
After Hearing Case Against
Mrs. M. E. Ferguson

After hearing the case against Mrs. Minnie Estelle Ferguson, charged in the city police court with an infraction of the Land Registry Act, Magistrate Jay reserved his decision yesterday.

Mrs. Ferguson is alleged by the prosecution to have been party to the making of a declaration in which Hugh James Elliott, her son, not yet twenty-one years old, stated that he was of age. The information against the defendant was laid by her father, D. H. Cox, who, with Mrs. Ferguson's son, was a witness for the Crown. Through her counsel, Mr. W. C. Moresby, defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge, and Mr. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, outlined the case to the magistrate.

Testifying, Elliott told how the declaration involving the conveyance of a piece of property from himself to his mother had been made out before Mr. H. A. Beckwith, local lawyer and notary public. He said that his mother had told him to say he was twenty-one if the lawyer questioned him as to his age. This he had done.

Cross-examined by Mr. Moresby, witness said he had not known very much about the transaction. His mother had been in an automobile collision and had been faced with a claim for damages, as a result of which the property had originally been transferred to him. He had felt merely that his name was being used to protect his mother and had no desire to keep the property.

Mrs. Sigurd Sveinson, of Vernon, B.C., testified that her brother, Elliott, was not yet twenty-one years old, and that he was a minor at the time of the transaction.

Mr. H. A. Beckwith described how the declaration was drawn up and testified that Elliott had said he was twenty-one when questioned as to his age.

The notary public had certainly been deceived as to the age of the youth, Mr. Harrison made it clear. Mr. J. T. Muirhead, clerk of the Land Registry Office, was called to produce and prove the various deeds and conveyances concerned in the case.

The defence proffered no witnesses. Commenting that the case was the only one of its kind he could remember in the history of the police court, Magistrate Jay reserved his decision until Tuesday.

ZONING BY-LAW FOR OAK BAY

There are five apartment districts. The first is on the Uplands carline between Estevan Avenue and the Uplands. The second consists of the two blocks on the waterfront between Willows Park and the Uplands; the third is on Oak Bay Avenue, roughly from Mitchell Street to Hampshire Road; the fourth consists of waterfront property from Beresford Street to Currie Road, and the fifth is on the waterfront, from Herrick Street to opposite the Golf Links. There are seven small retail districts, corresponding to the areas now occupied by stores. These districts are merely local shopping centres, and should not be a source of public annoyance. The fifth of the City of Victoria renders it unnecessary to provide a large central area for business purposes.

The Farming District, so-called, consists of the Hudson's Bay Company land and Fair Grounds. Owing to the special conditions obtaining in this area it was considered advisable to make it a separate district. The unrestricted district consists of the block opposite the Chinese Cemetery at the extreme south end of the municipality. This block is already occupied in part by houses of a somewhat inferior type, and on account of the peculiar wording of one part of the Town Planning Act it appeared necessary to have at least a small portion of the municipality where no restrictions existed in regard to buildings.

The names indicate in a general way the buildings which may be built or maintained in the respective districts. But the present use of existing buildings is not affected by the by-law. While dwellings may be built in any district, apartments, hotels, restaurants, stores and other places of business may not be built in the Residence District. Similarly stores may not be built in Apartment Districts, and no existing building can be converted into a store except in the Hotel, Garage, and Unrestricted Districts.

Setback lines are an important feature of the new law. In the Residence District all buildings must be at least twenty-five feet from a street or from the rear of a lot. An exception of course is made at corners, where dwellings, but not garages, may be built twelve feet from the side of a lot. Each house must be at least five feet from the side of the lot, but the total width of the two side yards must not be less than fifteen feet.

Invitation to Convention

Distinguished guests and delegates to the Conservative convention at Winnipeg on October 10 are being invited by this card. These are not being sent to all delegates, but are being sent out by headquarters to men and women who have been outstanding in the Conservative party in the past as well as the present. The invitation is signed by Major-General A. D. McRae, M.P., chairman of the organization committee.

less than fifteen feet. A garage may no longer be built on the street line, nor at the side of a house unless the minimum side yard requirements are met. On every lot there must be a minimum open space of 3,500 square feet. No building the height of more than twenty feet from ground level to eaves. The restrictions for dwellings are practically the same in the other districts. Shacks are prohibited, except in the Unrestricted District, by a provision that every dwelling must have a floor area of at least five hundred square feet. Stables or barns may not exceed 300 square feet in floor area; it will no longer be possible to erect a huge cow-barn in a residential neighborhood. Greenhouses are permitted but must not cover the entire area of a lot.

APARTMENT BLOCKS
Apartment houses and hotels may be three stories in height. The setback is twenty feet, and the open space required on each lot is 3,000 square feet. The minimum side yard setback from the sides of the lot is the same as for a dwelling, but the minimum for a three-story apartment is eight feet with a minimum total for the two side yards of twenty-three feet. On a corner the minimum setback from the outer side line is twelve feet.

In Retail and Garage Districts height must not exceed thirty feet from ground level to eaves or cornice. A minimum open space of 2,000 square feet is required on each lot. The usual setback is ten feet, but twenty feet is required on certain streets such as Cadboro Bay Road and St. Patrick Street. With certain exceptions the full width of the lot may be occupied in these districts.

No building may be erected in any district, except the unrestricted district, unless specifically permitted. In particular, factories, stores, laundries and veterinary hospitals are prohibited. The waterfront may not be used for the landing of fish for commercial purposes. There are undue hardship or special conditions occur an appeal may be made to a board, which has power to relax the regulations according to the circumstances.

Before the by-law comes into effect the Council must hold a public hearing. This hearing will take place on Friday, September 23, at 8 o'clock in the Council Chamber, Municipal Hall, Oak Bay Avenue.

PEACE RIVER

On the trip which has taken Mr. Aylsworth through most of the prairie, there are in the Peace River district, which appeared very strongly to him. The crops there were uniformly good and the people excellent. He had not been there long, he said, to meet such a condition of affairs as he saw during the tour of that district.

PRODUCTIVE LAND
"It is difficult to imagine a more uniformly productive land," said Mr. Aylsworth. "Usually diversified conditions are met with, and while there may be a large proportion of prairie, there are also in the Peace River district, which appeared very strongly to him. The crops there were uniformly good and the people excellent."

The great lack in the Peace district is the matter of railway transportation. When that matter is solved, there appears to be a tremendous producer and, it appeared to Mr. Aylsworth, would rank as perhaps one of the best producing sections of the world.

There accompanied Mr. Aylsworth on the trip through the prairies and into the Peace River Mr. C. J. Clarke, treasurer of the companies represented. Mr. H. W. Givins, superintendent of Western branches, who makes his headquarters generally in Victoria, and whose territory covers from the Coast to Winnipeg, is also in the city again with the head office officials of the companies. He has been spending some time in the west.

MR. GIVINS OPTIMISTIC
Mr. Givins says that he expects to see more wheat come westward this year than has been the case during the last two or three years. He attributes to the fact that the harvesting of the grain this year is attended with natural drying of it for the most part, so that when shipping begins there will not be the necessity as in the past year for drying. In this connection the equipment on the Coast has not been as complete as it should have been, with the result that the tendency was to ship eastward Pacific coast grain in bulk. This is of late, so that there will not be the same excuse for diverting the wheat. Messrs. Aylsworth and Clarke are spending a few days in Victoria in conference with the local headquarters of the companies, in the office of Brett & Ker.

WEDDING HELD AT CONVENTION

AMPUTATIONS ASSOCIATION HAS NEW FEATURE AT ANNUAL GATHERING

President Re-elected — Majority Vote Against Joining Canadian Legion

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 23.—An address by Hon. W. H. Price, Ontario Attorney-General, the election of officers, and a wedding ceremony featured tonight's session of the Amputations Association of Canada convention. Mr. Price advised the association to submit to the canteen fund committee recommendations regarding the administration of this fund.

Rev. Captain S. E. Lampert, of Toronto, was re-elected president of the organization, while other officers chosen included Mr. E. L. Palmer, Victoria, B.C., vice-president.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Captain S. E. Lampert. The contracting parties were Miss Madeline Jeffray, Galt, and Byron Morrison, Edmonton. Both are members of the association.

Various business matters were discussed at today's session, which was held in the hall of the Canadian Legion. Although there was a sharp diversity of opinion a majority of the delegates present voted in favor of the organization retaining its identity and not affiliating with the Legion.

Foreigner in Japan Taking Up Language

TOKYO, Sept. 23.—What with the "modern girl" and the "modern boy," both home products of Japan, the "modern foreigner" has also made his appearance. He is distinguished from the old-fashioned foreigner in that he makes a more sincere effort to learn the Japanese language than his predecessor ignored.

He still has a long way to go, however, it was pointed out Tuesday by Dr. M. Anesaki, Imperial University representative of the Association of the Japanese Language School. Exactly as the modern girl and modern boy usually are not half as modern as they think they are, the modern foreigner on an average speaks far more Japanese than those of previous years, but not half as much as he should, it was pointed out.

Of course, the comparison is not between the foreigner who arrived a large number of years ago and remained in Japan for any great length of time, but the average foreigner who comes and goes on a contract, remaining often not longer than three years.

"Foreigners are making a greater effort to learn Japanese than in previous years," Dr. Anesaki said Tuesday. "There is a greater tendency to learn the language and understand the Japanese, but sadly enough, the efforts are not made in the right direction."

"The ability to read is of overwhelming importance, and even the children born in Japan of foreign parents are not being taught to read and write Japanese as they should. The modern foreigner may be a Japanese-speaking foreigner to some extent, especially the foreigner born here, but he is not a Japanese-writing or a Japanese-reading foreigner, and to obtain a strong foothold the modern foreigner should be able to read. The children of foreign parents should be taught to read and write Japanese."

"I am not so sure about how far the modern foreigner who is a business man has advanced in ability to speak, but those who come out on student and mission tasks are much more advanced. I certainly believe foreigners of all lines are taking more to Japanese, but it is difficult to establish how much this is true without figures to go by."

"The children of foreign parents are learning Japanese by picking up the language by acquiring rather a weak knowledge of the language, not what should be true at all. The fact remains, however, that there are more foreigners speaking Japanese than in the past. This already is true in the case of the young modern foreigner who was born here or came when young."

"It really is unfortunate they do not acquire a strong foothold in the language by learning all branches of it. The difficulty of learning characters can be met and conquered when one is young easier than any other time. For children and adults there now are being published many more magazines and other pamphlets in Romanized spelling than formerly. This ought to help. It will make Japanese more accessible to the foreigner."

"The modern foreigner is advancing, but the manner of learning the language still is lackadaisical and without the knowledge of how to read the basic foothold is missing which is essential for true understanding in heart and soul between Japanese and foreigners."

NO NEW CASES IN WEST KOOTENAY

NELSON, B.C., Sept. 23.—No cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in the West Kootenay for some days and cerebrospinal meningitis is limited to one case at Nelson, but bans on children's assemblies are in full force, and the annual indoor track and field meet at Nelson, set for October, is cancelled.

Surveyor Dies

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—A figure of note in Canadian military and topographical survey circles was removed today by the death of Major Arthur d'Ormenet. Since a young man, Major d'Ormenet was connected with the Dominion Topographical Survey. He labored in the Yukon for ten years and had spent twenty years at survey headquarters in the capital. The deceased served in the Riel Rebellion.

American Legion Ends Convention in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The American Legion brought its greatest convention to a close yesterday after the legionnaires had come again to see Paris, see it with eyes nearly two years older than when they saw it last. The veterans came with a warning that they would be pelted with rotten eggs and assailed. They were thrown kisses and embraced. Doumergue, Poincaré, Tardieu, Lygues and Marin and other French statesmen called them brothers, and a long line of French generals hailed them as comrades.

The legion chose Edward Elwell Spafford, New York lawyer, as commander, and adopted forty-five resolutions, many of them designed to improve conditions of American war veterans, their wives and children.

LEADER TALKS OF DOUKHOBORS

BEST MODERN EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES ANXIOUSLY DESIRED

Agricultural Teaching — Peaceful Evolution Sought From Old to New Habits and Ideas

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23.—Peter Veregin, the younger, leader of the Doukhobors, and spiritual head of the community, arrived here tonight. Mr. Veregin was accompanied by Paul J. Burkoff, of Poland, whom he had invited to visit the colonies in Canada in connection with educational and cultural work.

Speaking through an interpreter, Mr. Veregin declared that he was still ignorant of conditions prevailing among the Doukhobors in the Dominion, but stated that he was "anxious to meet his people."

A brief stop was made in Ottawa, where Mr. Veregin conferred with Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration.

DOUKHOBOR EDUCATION

Mr. Veregin intimated that he was most anxious that the Doukhobors should have the best educational advantages without relinquishing any religious tenets. Partly in furtherance of his plan, he invited Mr. Burkoff to visit Canada, hoping through the latter's knowledge of modern education, to evolve some plan of harmonizing the old customs, habits and ideas now extant. Their education, he asserted, must be based on Doukhobor religious beliefs, and in keeping with the objective of the sect, should be largely along agricultural lines.

"We are willing to give the Government our brains and our energies, but not our souls," he declared.

Asked what he thought of recent charges that the Doukhobor colony was communistic, Mr. Veregin said: "It is communistic in a sense, but it is peaceful communism, a positive communism based on religion. It is communism for all humanity, a true brotherhood."

FURTHER PLANS

A question as to the wheat pool system of the west and the Brotherhood's attitude towards it, brought out the statement that the Doukhobors already have a system similar to that of the pool, with their own elevators and marketing system. There was no need as yet, Mr. Veregin stated, to consider joining the western wheat pool.

Following his visit to the colonies in Canada, the Doukhobor leader said he intended to approach the Federal Government with further plans for the settlement of the Russian colony in the West. There are approximately 15,000 Doukhobors in the Dominion, while more than that number are now in Russia.

The party left last night for Veregin, Sask.

Veteran of R.N.W.M.P. Dies in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—One of the officers of the Northwest Mounted Police who were connected with the second Riel Rebellion, John French Forbes, South Vancouver, is dead here. He was one of two constables who escorted the revolutionary leader to the scaffold.

Mr. Forbes remained in the force until 1889, when he took his discharge in Fort Saskatchewan, where he later acted as justice of the peace. For a number of years he farmed in Alberta, and early in the century came to Vancouver, where he was, for a period, secretary of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. J. Langland and Mrs. D. Smalley; and one son, Walter, all resident in Vancouver.

Fire Burns Most of North Park District

FINE ETCHINGS ARE EXHIBITED

COLLECTION FROM COOLING'S,
LONDON, PLACED ON VIEW
IN MONTREAL

Print by Rembrandt, Another by Whistler—Leading Artists Represented

Etchings by the leading exponents of this art in Great Britain and in the United States, brought to Montreal by C. H. Evelyn Ellis, of the Cooling Galleries, London, are on exhibition at the Johnson Art Gallery, Montreal, was a show worth visiting, as the collection includes, besides a print by Rembrandt, examples by men whose supremacy in this medium is unquestioned—Anders Zorn, Whistler, James McNeill Whistler, John Ruskin, and Frank Brangwyn, to mention a few.

By reason of the increasing rarity of occasion when prints by Rembrandt come into the market, the example by this great master of the needle is of more than ordinary interest. With "Rembrandt, 1641," signed and dated in the plate, it is in excellent state and is considered a good proof. Its pictorial elements are of the simplest kind—a cottage with a barn that houses a wagon, some waterlilies, a boy fishing, and a girl near a basket, with stretch of country beyond. It is beautifully clean in drawing and the biting is flawless.

In marked contrast with its rather placid delicacy is the bold, vigorous stroke of Georges Gobe, a prints are not uniformly pleasing, though the ability to suggest rather than set down is evident in them all. As technical exercises, "Study of a Model" by a young woman about to pull down the sheets preparatory to retiring, without any nightgown; and "Guitar Player," who, in the garb of Eve, has decided to strum a bar or two, are of interest. They do not, however, possess the charm of "The Ford," a rich, deep velvety print of a woman, carrying her garments, walking in a rippling stream; of the bathing scene entitled "Against the Current," where three girls link hands to better withstand the pull of the stream, or of "Dal River," a bather on the river bank. The clothed subjects include "The Barn Dance," marked by a good suggestion of motion; "Old Maria," a quaintly garbed girl playing a guitar; an interior with figures entitled "Mads of Honor," and a graceful portrait of Mrs. Grover Cleveland.

The German artist, Willy Kuhnt, who died recently after many years devoted to portraying wild animals in their native haunts, is represented by a small drypoint of a lynx, an admirably drawn wild cat, in which the texture of the fur is convincingly suggested.

EXAMPLE BY WHISTLER

The example by Whistler is "Dog on Kennel," the proof being printed on the back of the leaf of an account book which records the prices of logwood and copper. James McNeill shows a Dutch scene entitled "Enkhuizen Harbor," with water-dwelling houses and figures. Muirhead Bone in "Liberty's Clock," seizes on the decorative possibilities of scaffolding and beam-hoisting cables. Blomfield shows drypoints, his proofs including a mounted shipper returning from his work; "The Ostend Horse" employed in drawing the bathing machines to used in wild bird life, has three admirable plates—"Goose and Teal," in which the decorative marking of the Canada goose has distinct pictorial value; three ducks in a pool, entitled "Alert," and the gracious, airy Japanese print entitled "Black-birds in the Reeds." Warren Davis, another American, has some graceful studies of nude and draped figures, and Edward Borein, an ex-cowboy, shows spirited incidents in the life of his former calling.

J. H. Dowd, an English artist, is successful in his studies of children, and his admirable plate, "The Catch," is among those shown.

Others exhibiting are Geoffrey Watson, with aeroplane subjects; Graham Clilverd, with Florentine scenes, and J. B. Power, who has gone to Holland for his subjects, "Reverie" and "Echo," in which female nudes of the centre of interest, are two woodcuts by C. Nightingale.

BOOKLET FOR MINING MEN

C.N.R. Publication Presented to Metallurgical Congress Available to All

Of considerable value to practical mining men and geologists of the Province is a 122-page booklet, entitled "Minerals and Mining Industries in the Areas Served by the Canadian National Railways," recently compiled by Mr. C. Price-Green, F.R.G.S., Commissioner of Natural Resources, Montreal, and now obtainable from the Vancouver Branch of the Canadian National Railways.

One of the unique features of the booklet is a series of specially prepared maps which show section by section all the mineral fields of importance along the railway from Coast to Coast. Trails, portages, etc., are plainly shown, as well as the position of the actual mineral deposits, many of which have been visited by Mr. Price-Green.

Printed descriptions of the occurrences accompany the maps, so that the publication is of the greatest value to those seeking accurate information in readily accessible form. A hundred pages of the booklet are devoted to a detailed description of the various minerals found in Canada, and much interesting information is given as to the uses and available markets for these.

LONDON STRAND IS TO BE REVAMPED

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Behold, the London of the future—the new London!

Workmen recently began operations on reconstructing the face of London and now the city is going out: "Good-bye, old Strand!" For some of old London's oldest shops and buildings are being torn down and the Strand is to be widened and there will be a new Lambeth Bridge when the present operations are completed.

London, which has been changed so greatly in the last five years with the remapping of Regent Street and other major changes, still is rather surprised by the extensive scope of the present revamping operations, which will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

To be exact, the new work involves: Removal of what is known as the Strand "bottle-neck" between the Tivoli Theatre and the Hotel Cecil at a cost of more than $1,500,000, and construction of a new $3,000,000 Lambeth Bridge that is to take the place of the suspension bridge, which has been closed to vehicles for the last seven years. The Strand operations, which have already been started, are expected to take in the neighborhood of two months, while the Lambeth Bridge work may run on for close modern French artist, who has many points in common with Brangwyn. In the work of both there is a strong sense of the decorative, skill in the massing of the figures, and something approaching the noble in the handling of the subjects. Gobe, besides a large plate entitled "Barges," and a glimpse of a shadowed courtyard, shut in by old timbered houses, where figures and figures supply the human note, shows "Entrevaux," with the castle perched on the hill-top, overlooking a bridge across which figures are walking.

BRANGWYN AND ZORN

Frank Brangwyn is represented by both large and small plates. In the latter category is "Toledo, a Romantic Landscape," where his skill in arrangement is marked. A distant building of imposing architecture; a bridge and some decorative trees, beneath which a man is holding two dogs in leash, go to make a gracious composition. A nocturne, in which the shadows are marked by a fine transparent quality, is "Unloading Wine, Venice," with boatmen receiving barrels which are being lowered from the ship by the light of a flare. Noble in composition and treatment are "Gateway, Avila," with horses, wagons and men, and "Pelago, Italy," with its bridge, tall trees and buildings clinging to the hillside. "The Alpine Bridge" in arrangement hints at some of Turner's performances.

Anders Zorn's skill in rendering atmosphere and movement is well exemplified in the prints shown, some of which have not been on view here before. Where the female nude is the subject all the

Licence Proposed for Real Estate Agents

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—Realtors of the Province of Ontario waited yesterday upon Attorney-General W. H. Price, and urged the Government to adopt a draft bill which they presented, to provide for the licensing of all real estate commission agents in the province. The aim of the law was declared to be the protection of the public from fraud and the real estate profession from "rogues."

The Attorney-General said: "Something must be done along the line you mention."

When a fugitive cashier from London was captured in Berne recently, the Swiss railway company offered to convert a plane into a cell and take the prisoner back by air.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS GRANTED

In an effort to stay the extradition of Rev. Father Patrick A. O'Connor to Alabama where, it is asserted, he is wanted to face trial for alleged complicity in an illegal operation,
Mr. W. B. Cochran, Vancouver attorney, secured writs of habeas corpus and certiorari from Chief Justice Hunter at Shawanigan Lake
Thursday night.

The writs, carrying the right to speak to a motion for a stay of extradition proceedings, are returnable at 3 p.m. Monday, when the case will be argued here before the Chief Justice. Counsel secured the release of the priest on bail in the sum of $5,000 in two sureties of $2,500 each.
The extradition proceedings against
Rev. Father O'Connor were heard before Judge Cayley in Vancouver recently.

MR. C. H. RUST DIES IN EAST

Leading Engineer Was Identified for Six Years With City During Most Active Period

RETIRED WHEN WORK TERMINATED

Brought here in May, 1912, to straighten out the problems in the city engineering department, Mr.
Charles H. Rust, whose death was announced at the age of seventy-five at Toronto, was destined to be associated with the city's construction department during its most active period.

The conduct of Sooke Waterworks completion, after it was taken from the contractors by the then water commissioner, devolved upon Mr.
Rust, who was appointed commissioner in succession to the late Mr.
James L. Raymur, then also city commissioner. This undertaking, and the long litigation which ensued, brought great publicity to Victoria all over the continent, chiefly because of the new type of reinforcing used on the concrete flow line from Sooke Lake. Mr. Rust wrote numerous articles which appeared in the technical papers, and by this undertaking, the largest single job yet carried out for the City of Victoria, the city has been assured for all time of a first class water supply.

The Northwest sewer, with its problems in crossing under Selkirk water, the tunnel in Victoria West, and the outfall at McLaughlin Point, was also carried out during his term as city engineer. In this particular work Mr. Rust was exceptionally well aided by Mr. A. E.
Foreman, now of Vancouver, who was then assistant city engineer.

There was also a very large programme of street paving carried out during Mr. Rust's incumbency of the office. When he left Mr. Rust indicated that he would not return to municipal practice and he had since conducted a consulting practice in Toronto, where he was formerly city engineer from 1893 to 1912.

Mr. Rust was a strong believer in professional organizations and was long identified with the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, of which he was president in 1911, and with several American and Canadian professional societies, whose conventions he periodically attended.

Since leaving Victoria, he maintained a warm interest in the city, and corresponded regularly here.

A ram was sold at Sydney, N.S.W., recently, for $25,000.

Funeral of Mrs. Rhoda Plimley Held Yesterday

A large number of friends and relatives attended the funeral of Mrs. Rhoda Plimley, which was held at the Sands Funeral Chapel at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.
Rev. P. A. P. Chadwick officiated.
The pallbearers were: Mr. Baston,
Mr. L. V. Michelin, Mr. George W.
Frigitte, Mr. A. Mellin, Mr. D. Mc-Kay and Mr. W. Bailey.

The cortege then proceeded to the Sands Oak Burial Park, where interment was made. The Order of the Eastern Star conducted the service at the graveside. The hearse and casket were covered with floral wreaths sent by the friends of the deceased.

terment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

SCRIPTURAL TOUCH IN JERUSALEM "Y"

"Upper Room" and Various Symbols
Will Feature Million-Dollar Structure

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—Leaders of the Y.M.C.A. in Montreal recently were afforded an insight into one of the latest pieces of foreign extension work by the institution, the erection of a Y.M.C.A. building in Jerusalem.

Arthur Lockley, who has been appointed physical director of the Young Men's Christian Association in Jerusalem, passed through the city, and a luncheon was tendered him in the Central "Y" by directors and leaders of the local organization. Mr. Lockley, who has been connected with the Y.M.C.A. in China, outlined the Jerusalem
Y.M.C.A. plans and also described conditions in China. He said that the association is building a unique institution in Jerusalem, costing nearly a million dollars and requiring three years to complete. Work on the construction has already started. It will replace the present
Y.M.C.A. hut in that area.

"A brotherhood and not a building was the way Mr. Lockley described the new construction. "In all the architecture of this unique building," he said, "the aim is to preach by symbol; since it is impossible to make verbal presentation of the message, which is therefore expressed in stone."

Pictures of the new Y.M.C.A. being erected in Jerusalem were shown to the gathering. There are three large buildings. The chief one, in the centre, will contain ninety-four sleeping chambers for resident members and visitors. One section will be set apart for "The School of the Prophets," wherein ministers and missionaries and Bible teachers from all over the world may reside while pursuing a special course of Bible study. This school will open every year on Christmas Day, closing at Easter. A protracted walking tour of the Holy Land is proposed as part of the course of study.

It is expected that world religious conferences will resort to Jerusalem, because of the facilities offered by this new building.

The two auxiliary buildings will be respectively an auditorium and a gymnasium. Altogether the structures will have a library, swimming pool, and other usual Y.M.C.A. privileges. The auditorium will have an organ. The largest central building will be surrounded with a fine memorial tower from which a view may be obtained of a large part of the Promised Land and of the scenes of the ministry of Jesus. In this tower will be a room furnished as much like the upper room of the gospels as possible, for meditation and Bible study. Inside the dome itself, entered from the west by a low door to symbolize humility, will be an eastward looking chamber with a mural painting of the Pharisee and the Publican; and every person who enters must sign a pledge of devotion, even the casual tourist must wear at least the outward habitations of reverence here in the room dominated by the Cross. There will be a carillon of bells.

Only trees, vines and flowers mentioned in the Bible will adorn the garden. The entire structure will be on the hill west of Jerusalem, not far from the Jaffa gate, a large tract of land having been secured for the purpose.

Colonel Gerald Birks, president of the Montreal Y.M.C.A., presided.
Others at the head table who participated in the discussion included
Mr. William Hanson and Mr. Guy
Tombs, directors, and Mr. J. W.
Beaton, metropolitan secretary.

School authorities in England declare that systematic inspection of school children by qualified practitioners is developing a better type of Englishman.

World-Famous Stories

THE GOBLIN AND THE HUCKSTER

By HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

Hans Christian Andersen, Danish writer, born in 1806, died in 1875, is world famous for his fairy tales, originally included in his own collection, as "Tales for Children," and now known to readers everywhere. Among his best known tales are "The Little Tin Soldier," "The Ugly Duckling," "The Little Match Girl," etc.

There was once a real student who lived in an attic and owned nothing whatsoever. There was also a real huckster who lived on the ground floor and owned the whole house. The goblin made friends with him, for every Christmas he was given a bowlful of porridge with a lump of butter in it.
The huckster could easily afford this, so the goblin stayed in the shop.

One evening the student came in by the back door to buy some candies and cheese; he had no one to attend, so he went himself. He got what he asked for and paid for it, and the huckster and his wife watched him go.

The student returned the greeting, but stood absorbed in reading something on the paper in which the cheese was wrapped. It was a page from an old book of poetry which should never have been torn up at all.

The huckster had the rest of the book offered to sell it to the student for twopence. So the student took the book instead of the cheese, deciding to live on bread and butter.

"It would be a sin to tear up such a book," said the student. "You are a capital fellow and a practical man, but you know no more about poetry than a tub."

Now this was a very rude speech, especially to the tub, which was standing near by. The huckster laughed, for, of course, it was said as a joke. But the goblin was annoyed that anyone should dare say such a thing to the huckster who was a landlord and also sold the best butter.

At night, when everyone was asleep and abed except the student,
the goblin borrowed the landlord's wife's long tunic. She had no use for it while asleep, and the goblin could lay it on any object in the room and thereby confer on it the power of speech. Of course, only one object could make use of it at a time, but probably this was just as well.

The goblin laid the tunic on the tub, and asked: "Is it really true that you do not know what poetry is?"

"Of course I know," answered the tub. "It is the kind of stuff that is printed at the foot of newspaper columns and is sometimes cut out."
Then the goblin put the tunic upon the coffee-mill, and what a pace it wagged at then! He also put it on the butter cask and on the cash box. They were all of the same opinion as the tub, and what the majority agree upon must be respected.

"Now the student shall have his say," said the goblin, and he stole stealthily up the back stairs to the attic where the student lived.

There was a light burning, and the goblin peeped through the keyhole and saw that the student was reading the tattered book he had taken instead of the cheese. But how bright the room was! A clear ray of light shot forth from the book, which widened out to a stem, and then to a mighty tree, which

BIG BUSINESS SPROUTS WINGS

rose and spread its branches right over the student.

The leaves of this tree were delightfully fresh, some with dark and sparkling eyes, while others had wonderfully blue and clear eyes.
Every fruit was a shining star and the air was filled with music. No,
the little goblin had never imagined, much less seen or taken part in such splendours as these.

So then he stood on tiptoe, peeping and peeping till the light was put out. The student blew out his lamp and went to bed, but the little goblin remained by the door, for the sweet songs still echoed through the air, making a charming lullaby for the student who was taking his rest.

"This is splendid," said the goblin. "I hadn't expected anything of the kind. I think I will stay with the student."

So he thought, and then he thought again: "But the student has no porridge with butter in it."
Then he went away. Yes, he went back to the huckster, and it was a good thing he went, for the tongue had been left on the tub, which had almost used up the landlord's wife's volubility!

The tub had given a detailed description of what he contained from one side and now he was just to turn himself over to repeat the same from the other side, when the goblin came back and took away the tub's tongue to return it to her.

But the whole shop, from the cash box to the firewood, took their opinions from the tub from that time onward. They respected the tub so highly and confided in it to such an extent that when the huckster afterwards read the art and theatrical announcements in his Times, the evening paper, they all thought they came originally from that tub!

But the little goblin no longer sat standard time.

MONTREAL PLANS SUBWAY SYSTEM

Terminal Railway Station and Abolition of Level Crossings
Also Proposed

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—Initial steps have been taken, it was officially announced by a group of local interests connected with financial houses in New York, to enter into a $200,000,000 project with the city, province, Dominion Government and railway companies to abolish level crossings in Montreal, construct a gigantic terminal station, and provide underground tram facilities.

The first intimation of the project was given out today by city officials. The work comprises, it was said, the abolition of all level crossings in and entering the city, either by elevating them or putting them underground. The proposition, which it is stated is being made to the various governments besides the railway companies, would provide for collaboration of all these bodies in the financial arrangements.

In addition to the establishment of a union railway terminal, the scheme includes elevated lines to serve the north end of the city, and also a system of subways, dovetailing with the surface, elevated and railway lines.

To reduce the heavy imports of rice into Japan, a plan has been advanced that each person of that country eat one less mouthful of rice at each meal.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

The words Fall and coat are naturally associated, for with the coming of cold weather, coats are an essential to every wardrobe. There are coats and coats, of course, and one of the smartest is shown here. Grey tweed is used, cut with straight lines which flare slightly toward the hem. It follows the lines of importance and has rather a brief rolled collar.

The fur used is curly grey chevre and the wide panels down the front are effectively shaped to accent the flare of the coat. The medium cuffs are also of the chevre.

Leaving for Vancouver

Mr. Chisholm Fraser is leaving on Sunday for Vancouver, where he will attend the University of British Columbia.

After the game, refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Wallace. Other speakers during the evening were Rev. Canon Stocken and Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia. Hymns were sung and the blessing given by Rev. Canon Stocken at the close of the meeting.

Six-Foot Dogfish Caught
After a fierce struggle, a party of fishermen caught a dogfish, six feet long, off the coast of Ireland recently. One of the party, James Martin, was about to strike it with a knife, when the fish suddenly gave an upward blow with its head, causing the knife to enter the man's throat. A bad wound was inflicted and Martin had to be attended by a doctor.

Do Women Dress To Please Men Or Themselves

There has been an age-long controversy over the question as to whether women dress to impress each other, or to captivate the men. Probably there is a spice of both motives in every woman's makeup. But underneath it all, with the real woman, there is a stronger factor—she dresses to please her own sense of the beautiful and fitting, she dresses in response to her own desire for the lovely in hue and texture and in answer to the innate feeling that, temple and shrine, as she is meant to be, of human life, she should be decked with things of beauty.

Of the other two motives, however, it is safe to say that the second is the higher. Being only human, it is natural that a woman should feel a flash of pleasure when she sees that by thought and skill, she has made herself look a little more charming than the next woman. But this motive is apt to degenerate into rivalry in extravagance, into heartburnings no end. For to make a very telling impression on a fellow-woman you have to be in the front rank of the very latest fashion, and show clear evidence of having spent plenty of money in getting there. But a man, bless him, doesn't care a copper about fashions—so long as you are near enough to the prevailing mode not to be conspicuous, and he has a way of knowing what is becoming and is more likely to admire a cotton frock than a broad-cloth velvet. If the color and the style harmonize with the wearer's personality.

The woman who "dresses to please the men" has generally a sense of exquisite neatness and is scrupulously clean, with tidy hair and feet that are well shod. She has a way of looking as trim in the kitchen in the morning, as she does at a party in the evening. She doesn't make herself a scarecrow, with curlers and a dusting cap, at one time of the day, in order to be beautiful at another. For, of course, dressing to please the men, includes dressing to please her father and her brothers, her husband and her sons, and they, like the poor, are always with her. Dressing to please men has also this advantage, it is a weakness that, happily, persists into old age. There is a story told of two old ladies. One was kind and good and clever, but slowly to a degree, and though whatever cause in which she was interested was a worthy one, she rarely could get support or sympathy, because her pretty face and her sweet voice suffered from a background of soiled, unsuitable clothes. There was another old lady, a friend of the first, often quaintly frowned, because poverty compelled her, very often, to fall back on "the remains of old decency." But most exquisite neatness was a shining characteristic of everything that she put on, and wherever she went, she created an atmosphere of refinement and of grace and her slightest wish was law. One day a little secret leaked out. She was overheard gently berating the friend spoken of above for her carelessness in dress. "My dear," she said, "do distress me! Why do you dress the way you do? Why don't you dress for the men? I always dress for the men!"

Purple Star Lodge
The regular meeting of Victoria Purple Star Lodge, 104, L.O.B.A., was held in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, on Wednesday evening. Worshipping Masters, Mrs. D. A. Hunter presiding. Mrs. White, mistress of Harmony Lodge, Saanichton, with several of her officers and members, and other visiting sisters from Queen of the Island and Britannia lodges were present. Three new members were received into the Order. Splendid reports were received from various committees, including the result of the membership drive. Mrs. Skett was convener of the winning side. The losing side will entertain them at supper at the close of the next meeting. Arrangements are well in hand for the bazaar, for which a miscellaneous shower will be held at Mrs. Trowdale's, 631 Esquimalt Road, on Thursday, September 29, at 8 o'clock, also for a rummage sale, to be held in the Orange Hall on Saturday, October 8. The convener is Mrs. Joyce. An invitation was received from Harmony Lodge to attend its next meeting and a card party to follow.

Craigflower School Preservation
A meeting of Post No. 3, Native Daughters of British Columbia, will be held in the Victoria Club on Tuesday, September 27, at 8 o'clock. A talk on the Craigflower School will be given by Mr. Lorimer, chairman of the Craigflower School Committee, and trustees of the school and members of their committees will also be present. As the lease for the Craigflower School has now been handed over to the British Columbia Historical Society, and the National Sons and Daughters, this subject will be of special interest to the members.

St. Barnabas' Guild
The presidency of Mrs. Bassett, held their first meeting after the vacation on Thursday afternoon. There was a full attendance and four new members were welcomed into the Guild. Many plans for the coming season were made, including a rummage sale on Saturday, October 1, and a card party at the home of Mrs. White, Superior Street, on Thursday, October 20. Mr. Dyer gave an address on "Food Values."

St. Mark's Social
A five hundred drive and bridge party will be held under the auspices of the W.A. in St. Mark's Hall on Wednesday, September 28, at 8 p.m. Prizes and refreshments will be provided.

King's Daughters
The King's Daughters will hold their regular district meeting on Monday in rest room at 2:45 p.m. Halls to have its first cotton mill, which will be started soon by Germans.

Weddings
ZARELLI-MCCANN
At Breadalbane, 2347 Windsor Road, a quiet wedding took place on Tuesday evening in the minister's study, when Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of Mr. Gilbert Zarelli and Miss Kathryn McCann, both of this city. The bride, who was unattended, was very pretty in a beautiful frock of blue Canton crepe and picture hat. After a honeymoon up the Island Mr. and Mrs. Zarelli will make their home in Victoria.

McDONALD-ROSE
CUMBERLAND, Sept. 22.—A quiet wedding, which will be of much interest to residents of Cumberland and district, was solemnized at St. Joseph's Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, on Saturday morning last, when Helen Elizabeth Ronald, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Ronald, former residents of Cumberland, now of Richmond, California, was united in marriage to Mr. Byron Camp McDonald, only son of the late John T. and Mrs. McDonald, of Los Angeles. Only immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The bride was given away by her mother, and the sister and brother-in-law of the groom were in attendance. Miss Nellie Ronald, as the bride was popularly known in Cumberland, spent the greater part of her life here, having attended the local public and high schools. For the past few years she has made her home in California. The groom is well known in California radio circles, being the southern California

LATEST SPORT THE WORLD OVER

BATTLE IS OVER BUT LONG COUNT DEBATE IS STILL ON

Illinois Boxing Commission Refuses to Allow Protest by Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's Manager, Concerning Seventh Round Episode, and Decision Given in Tunney's Favor Will Stand

Gene Says He Could Have Got Up Off Floor of Ring at Count of Five

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The battle is over, the exodus of the most spectacular fight crowd is complete, but the debate is still on. It raged with increasing fury tonight about the now famous seventh round, and whether or not the "long count of nine" actually occupying a space of thirteen or fourteen seconds, saved Gene Tunney from losing the heavyweight crown to Jack Dempsey.

The official decision in Tunney's favor on the score of the delay in counting in the seventh round until Dempsey was waved to a corner, as well as on the verdict at the close in the champion's favor stands as it was rendered last night.

The State Athletic Commission settled this at a session that heard and refused to allow a formal protest from Leo P. Flynn, who claimed that Tunney was actually knocked out and that Dempsey "robbed" of the championship. Dempsey himself refused to support Flynn's action today at least, and through his agent, Arthur F. Driscoll, of New York, made it known that he was considering no "squawk" or protest at present.

DECISION ON RECORDS
So it will stay on the records as a ten-round decision for Tunney, but there are thousands of those who had seen the fight and those who studied its seventh-round details closely in the slow motion pictures, convinced that the circumstances cost Jack Dempsey the greatest triumph of his career.

The pictures not only showed that the time elapsing during the count of "nine" was actually less than ten seconds, but they indicated that Tunney had been compelled to get up earlier than he did, probably would have been wobbly, easy target for the finishing wallop. In other words, the four or five additional seconds the champion gained on the floor while Dempsey was lying prone in the farthest corner by Referee Dave Barry, seemed in the pictures to be a vital, if not a deciding factor in Tunney's recovery.

Gene was dazed and blinking when he went down from a series of left and right hand smashes to the jaw. He was still seemingly only semi-conscious when the count actually reached "nine." Nine or ten seconds actually had passed by that time so that, but for Dempsey's delay in retreating, Tunney conceivably might have been counted out. Even had he been able to rise, it is doubtful whether his legs could have carried him as rapidly around the ring as he did, several seconds later, to escape Dempsey's renewed attack.

JACK'S COSTLY MISTAKE
On the other hand, there is the view that Dempsey cost himself his big chance of victory by not abiding promptly by the state boxing rules that compel a boxer to retire quickly to the farthest corner after flooring an antagonist. These rules provide no count shall be made until the boxer on his feet has so retreated. This was the view of the commission in backing up the action of its officials. It was the opinion of Dave Barry, the referee, and of the two judges, George Lytton and Sheldon Clark, prominent Chicago businessmen.

As to whether Tunney was capable or not of getting to his feet and out of range whenever the count of nine was reached, opinions differ. The champion himself said he was able to get up at five and was about to do so, only to be restrained by orders shouted from his corner. Most ringside experts seemed to share a similar view.

"COULD HAVE GOTTEN UP"
Lytton, one of the judges, declared: "I was sitting right under Mr. Tunney when he dropped. I know he could have gotten up. There is no question about it."

The pictures show that during the last four or five seconds Tunney was intently watching the referee's count, sitting, but with his left hand on the ropes ready to pull himself up. Why didn't Dempsey rush in, when Tunney did get up, and make a quicker effort to complete the job that was another moot question. It may have been Tunney's foot racing skill, his dizzy back peddling pace, that frustrated a fresh Dempsey charge, but it seemed as the pictures were studied, that the champion let many a second slip before taunting his foe and then leaping back to the attack. There was no doubt that every second was a precious mind and body restorer to Tunney toward the close of the seventh round.

GENE'S GENERALSHIP
Dempsey's aggressiveness throughout the fight is emphasized by the pictures, but so also is Tunney's remarkable generalship, the superior accuracy of his attack—outside of the fateful seventh—and his far greater stamina. Tunney, cleverly handled by his second, Jimmy Bronson, outsmarted his opponent, perhaps when the crisis came, but he did not out-game him. Dempsey was always going in, stung and cut as he was

by the rousing finish that clinched the decision for the champion. Dempsey's plan of battle, in retrospect, emerges in bold relief. It was a carefully conducted body attack through the first five rounds with a well timed shift to the head in the sixth and seventh. Either one of these rounds was picked for Dempsey's big bid—while his resources were still strong.

How close this strategy came to being successful is pretty well known. In spite of the "break" against Dempsey in that seventh round, however, he might have cashed in on his advantage had he still possessed the old physical fire and stamina that marked his heyday.

THE FIRST TIME
It was the first time in Dempsey's career that he had failed to finish an opponent he had knocked down. It was because at thirty-two he found his legs and endurance unequal to carrying on at top-speed attack. Tunney's youth, speed and boxing craft were sufficient to offset the old boxer's punch.

Is Dempsey through or will there be another and third chapter to his de luxe feud with Tunney? The former champion's friends believe he has fought his last fight. Jack himself isn't committing himself to the future yet.

Tex Rickard, the man who pulls the strings, may have an idea of bringing about another match or at least of promoting a 1928 variation of the "elimination tournament" to decide Tunney's next opponent. Both had agreed before the battle to fight for Rickard next year in the defense of the title, whoever was the victor.

FELL SHORT OF GOAL
Rickard fell short of his goal of a battle of three millions, but the actual receipts he announced today, $2,658,660, eclipsed by more than $100,000 the previous record of a year ago at Philadelphia. Because it was less than a $3,000,000 gate Tunney also failed to collect the million he expected to get. It developed today that he was working on a graduating percentage scale, instead of a flat guarantee. The approximate end of $2,000,000 is $150,000 more than any fighter ever collected for a night's engagement. Dempsey received $750,000 last year. This time he collected $450,000.

CHAMPION GOT BENEFIT
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Experts at the Dempsey-Tunney ringside agreed the champion got the benefit of a "long count" in the seventh round, when he was knocked down, but a majority also accepted the view that Gene would have got to his feet "whenever" "nine" was reached.

Paul Beiler, the knockdown timekeeper, told newspapermen that sixteen seconds elapsed during the count but that the extra two seconds was due to the interval of getting Dempsey to the "farthest corner" as prescribed by the rules.

WHAT SAVED TUNNEY
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—A stuff of smelling salts and a "little hell" saved the heavyweight champion for Gene Tunney. The champion said so himself today. The whiff of aromatic spirits and the strong language of Jimmy Bronson, Gene's chief second, sent the champion out from his corner in the eighth round "fighting mad" to beat Jack Dempsey, the punching menace who floored him for the count of nine in the seventh, and taunted him to "come on and fight."

Just a few moments before, Jimmy told me to keep working to the left hook, said Gene. "I did that all right, until Jack wobbled. Then I went in to get him, gey careless, and the first thing I knew I was on the floor."

"SMASH STUNNED ME"
"My first thoughts were, 'What is this? How did I get here? I ought to be ashamed of myself.' That smash stunned me, but I could have got up at the count of five. My corner and there was Jimmy waving me to stay down. So I did until the count reached nine. Then I made very certain that I would be hit with no more punches like that, at least until my head cleared."

"Dempsey said: 'Come on and fight.' He could have said: 'Come on and get hit and knocked down again.' My lips never moved, but my mind said to Dempsey: 'So long about me, I'm all right.' Then I felt like, when I felt better I came back and won the fight."

JIMMY BRONSON TALKS
Then Jimmy Bronson took up the tale. "Gene came back to his corner after the seventh badly hurt. I asked him how he felt. 'Don't worry about me, I'm all right,' he said. So I gave him the smelling salts. Then I asked him again: 'How do you feel?' and again he said, 'Don't worry about me, I'm all right.'"

"So at that I gave him a little hell, some more smelling salts and some more. I sent him out there to answer the bell for the eighth. I really made him mad enough to chase Dempsey around, but I did not know it."

Moving Pictures Show Gene Down Fourteen Seconds

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Moving pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight showed that Tunney was down in the seventh for fourteen seconds, officials of the film company announced today.

For part of the period, however, the pictures showed Dempsey standing over the champion, or in his own corner, before he was waved to a far corner by the referee. The pictures showed Tunney went down from a right to the jaw. Slow motion pictures revealed no low blows by either contestant.

Tunney was unable to shake hands with his guests, ducked and swiveling caused by too tight application of the tape used to bind his hands. Not a mark showed on his face. The conqueror of Jack Dempsey twice within a year had nothing but praise for the former champion today when the heat of the "open letter" controversy had died and talk of fouls, poor sportsmanship and long counts subsided.

SAYS JACK GRAND FIGHTER
"I'm afraid he is through now," Gene said regretfully. "Now that his dream of regaining the title has faded I doubt if he ever will fight again. He has been a grand fighter, one of the greatest of the ring and the greatest foe I ever faced."

"I'd like another shot at him just to prove that I could go out there and slug him, toe to toe, and whip him at his own game. I did it in the final rounds. I could do it again."

But the man who wielded the smelling salts and doled out the "hell" when necessary, shook his head, apparently with memory of the heart-wrench that took every member of the Tunney entourage when Gene suddenly hit the floor was too real and recent for comfort. Tunney will spend the next few days with friends in Cleveland. Within a few days he will go to the Maine woods for a vacation of indefinite length. He has no ring plans, but would prefer to fight twice within the coming year if only to keep in the best of condition.

"WITHOUT THE BACON"
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Jack Dempsey went back to his wife early today without the "bacon" he promised to bring home.

"It's all right," said Estelle Taylor, his actress wife, when she had taken one look. "I thought from the radio story you had been hurt."

"It's all over," said "I guess I'm through fighting."

JACK WEARS SMILE
Dempsey had no further comment to make today concerning the "long count" given Tunney in the seventh round. He said that was one of the "breaks" of the game and Tunney "got the breaks, that was all."

Jack never has been a "squawker," and last night was no exception. He said that was one of the "breaks" of the game and Tunney "got the breaks, that was all."

Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's manager, however, made no comment. Tunney was robbed, that was the decision reversed. Flynn declared that besides this "knockout" of Tunney, Dempsey won six of the ten rounds.

SURPRISING STATEMENTS
George Lytton, one of the judges, made the surprising statement that Dempsey's delay of three seconds in getting back to his own corner after flooring Tunney really cost him the championship.

Two legs rather than two fists, coupled with a muddled brain, really won the fight for Tunney, he said. Two months ago he knocked out Jack Sharkey by taking advantage of the Bostonian's carelessness in tripping his hands while making a protest of foul.

Dempsey won that fight by hair-trigger thinking. He lost last night's fight by becoming muddled in an emergency. Dempsey displayed no marks of the fight today, except two wounds on his left eye. The biggest wound, a diamond-shaped gash, was just at the edge of the eyebrow, while the second was a gash an inch long at the end of the eyebrow. Both were old scars.

Champion to Abandon Ring
J. M. Cox Says

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Gene Tunney will abandon the squared ring of pugilism for the lecture platform of North America's young manhood, former Gov. J. M. Cox, of Ohio, once a presidential candidate, said here today. "I happen to know that Tunney, perhaps the finest yet most misunderstood man in sports, will devote his future to lecturing young men on how to live," Mr. Cox said. "I have known him for years. The best son of a father could hope for—the cleanest and finest."

Eduard B. Tufts Died Yesterday
What would you do if the man at LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—Eduard B. Tufts, sixty, president of the Southern California Golf Association, and nationally known sportsman, died here today.

Tunney's Next Opponent?

The game Bostonian, boxer, who was knocked out by Jack Dempsey at Madison Square Garden in New York two months ago, said yesterday that Jack would defeat Tunney in Chicago on Thursday night, said yesterday that he thinks the former champion is through for good as a fighter. Sharkey may be Gene Tunney's next opponent, for Tex Rickard, famous promoter, stated several weeks before the Tunney-Dempsey fight that the winner of Thursday's scrap would be matched to fight Sharkey, provided the latter survived the elimination trials planned by Rickard.

Baseball Classic Is To Get Underway Wednesday, Oct. 5

First Two Games of World's Series Will Be Played in City of Club Winning National League Pennant—Four Umpires to Officiate

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The first game of the world series will be played on October 5 in the city whose club wins the National Baseball League pennant. It was decided today at a conference among representatives of the leading clubs of the National and American Leagues and Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis.

The first two games will be played in the park of the National League pennant winners—Pittsburgh, St. Louis or New York—and the next three games will be played in the park of the New York American League club, already assured of first place in that league.

If more than five games are necessary to decide the world championship, the sixth and seventh games will be played in the park of the National League club.

Each of the pennant winners was authorized to sell tickets for three games, the National League for the first, second and sixth, and the American League club for the third, fourth and seventh.

If played at St. Louis, the contests there will start at 1:30. Central standard time, but if both clubs are in the East the contests will begin at 1:30. Eastern time. A Sunday game, if played in New York, will start at one minute after two.

If the schedule calls for games in Pittsburgh or New York, there will be no day intervening for the teams to change cities; but if the St. Louis team is a participant, a day will be taken to make the trip between New York and the western city.

Two umpires from each league will be chosen later to officiate for the contests. The umpires for the world series will prevail, with boxes selling at $6.00, including the government tax; reserved grandstands $2.50; general admission $1.30; bleachers $1.10.

FIGHT FILMS ARE SEIZED
Henry Sonenshine, President of Goodart Film Co., Arrested While Preparing to Leave by Plane

IS CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF LAWS
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Five sets of films of the Dempsey-Tunney fight and one set of negatives were seized by a United States marshal tonight, and Henry Sonenshine, president of Goodart Film Company, which held sole rights on the fight films, was arrested at a suburban airport, where the film producer was preparing to take off in an airplane.

The warrant on which Sonenshine was arrested charged he was to transport the films into Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan in violation of Federal laws. He maintained he was preparing a flight to Canada to display the films and his attorneys said they would make a test case of the matter. Sonenshine said he would seek an injunction against the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice today to obtain release of the films so they may be shipped into Canada and other foreign countries.

Blake Exonerated In Ring Fatality
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—A. D. De Weese, boxing promoter, and James Campbell, who boxed under the name of Jimmy Blake, were exonerated in municipal court here today of manslaughter charges growing out of the death of Charles Harold Williams, seventeen, who died following a bout with Blake at Bell, near here, recently.

Jimmy Wilde Plans To Stage Comeback
LONDON, Sept. 23.—Jimmy Wilde, of England, now thirty-four years of age, former world's flyweight boxing champion, who retired in 1924, contemplates staging a comeback.

Seventh Round, Almost Fatal to Gene, Kills Ten

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The seventh round of the Tunney-Dempsey fight, nearly fatal to the hopes of the champion, was accompanied by the death of ten fans listening to the reports of the match. Four others died while tuned in on the fight programme, and one man fell dead in the excitement of an argument after the bout.

Based on yearly averages compiled by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, five and four-tenths persons among the estimated 50,000,000 who heard the fight by radio might be expected to die of heart disease in any given thirty-minute period. The ten deaths reported exceeded the average.

AMERICANS VICTORS ON GOLF LINKS

Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., Vanquishes Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto

MRS. HORN DEFEATS MRS. A. S. FRASER

Younger Generation of Women Golfers Will Have Fling Today in Final of National Tournament

GARDEN CITY, Sept. 23.—The younger generation of women golfers will have its fling tomorrow when Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., and Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, of Kansas City, Mo., play for the women's amateur championship of the United States.

Miss Orcutt is barely twenty years of age, while Mrs. Horn is in her very early thirties.

To win the right to travel the long route of thirty-six holes over the course trapped Cherry Valley course, the finalists had to dispose of two visiting players from Canada, young in years but old in golf. Miss Orcutt defeated Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, 2 up, and 1 to play, while Mrs. Horn won from Mrs. Alex Stirling Fraser, of Ottawa, 1 up.

Mrs. Fraser was conceded an excellent chance to advance to the deciding match, but her hopes were finally buried today deep in the sand of Cherry Valley's traps. The strategy, sure shots she introduced the day before to eliminate Mile, Simone Thion de la Chaume, the French and British champion, were in vain today.

DEMPSEY BEST DRAWING CARD
PROMOTER TEX RICKARD DECIDES TO GIVE GENE AS "EMINENTLY FAIR"

Declines to Discuss "Long Count"—Would Be Willing to Promote Another Dempsey-Tunney Bout

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Jack Dempsey is still the greatest drawing card in ring history. Tex Rickard said tonight, and there is a lot of money for him in the fight game if he chooses to stick in it. The famous promoter had nothing to say about plans for future "battles of the century."

Rickard refused to express an opinion on the "long count" of the fight dispute, but thought the decision awarded Tunney at the end of the tenth round "eminently fair."

"I do not believe Jack Dempsey is through by any means," Rickard said. "There is a lot of money ahead of him in the fight game if he chooses to stick in it. I don't know if he will fight again, for I have had no negotiations with him at all. I would be willing to promote another Dempsey-Tunney match if Jack would go over the same route again, to establish himself as the logical contender, meeting some of the other outstanding heavyweights."

It will take several days yet to clean up the remaining details of the fight, Rickard said, and he may not be ready to return to New York for a week.

Mrs. Mallory Wins Exhibition Tennis
TORONTO, Sept. 23.—A series of exhibition tennis matches, featuring several of the tennis celebrities of the United States and France, commenced here today.

Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, former ranking women player of the United States, was the centre of interest. In a brilliant and hard-fought match she defeated Mrs. E. F. Oske, Toronto, 6-2, 7-5.

GIANTS CUT LEAD OF PITTSBURGH IN HOT PENNANT RACE

Pirates, in Pursuit of National Circuit Confalon, Are Jarred by New Yorkers' Exciting 6 to 5 Victory, and Only Have Two-and-One-Half Game Advantage Over McGraw Men

15,000 People See Their Favorites Go Under; Cards Drop to Third Post

NATIONAL LEAGUE
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—The New York Giants jarred a full full game out of Pittsburgh's lead on the pinnacle in the hard National grind today, with an exciting six-to-five victory over the Pirates, which brought the McGraw men back to second place, as the Cards went under to the Braves. The defeat reduced the Giants five times previously, weakened, and four runs crossed the plate. With the bases loaded and two out, Lindstrom dropped a Texas-leaguer that brought in two runs and another one came over when Lloyd Waner made a bad peg to third.

Now It Is Ten
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—Los Angeles ran its winning streak to ten straight by downing Portland in a pair of extra-inning games today. The Angels won the opener, 4 to 3, in ten innings, when Peters out-pitched Fonder, and captured the nightcap, 3 to 2, in eleven innings. The second game was a mound duel between Ortman and Cunningham. The Beaver hurler allowed fewer hits, but the Angels gave Cunningham sensational support, turning the trick with the aid of four double plays.

First game—
R. H. E.
Portland ..... 3 7 1
Los Angeles ..... 4 11 1
Batteries—Fonder and Fischer; Peters and Hannah.

Second game—
R. H. E.
Portland ..... 2 9 3
Los Angeles ..... 3 5 6
Batteries—Ortman and Fischer; Cunningham and Sandberg.

Goes Ten Innings
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Frank Shellenback and Orel Mitchell hooked up in a pitching duel today, the former coming out on top when his single in the tenth broke up a close game and gave Hollywood a 2 to 1 victory, and fourth straight win over the San Francisco Seals. The teams had battled on even terms from the third inning when each scored runners. Shellenback allowed six hits and Mitchell nine.

R. H. E.
Hollywood ..... 2 9 1
San Francisco ..... 1 6 1 (10 innings).
Batteries—Shellenback and Murphy; Mitchell and Jolley.

RENE LACOSTE AGAIN VICTOR
French Tennis Ace Disposes of Jack Wright, Canadian Titleholder, in Two Straight Sets

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—René Lacoste, kingpin of the French Davis Cup team and singles champion of many nations, added further victories to his exhibition tennis tour of Eastern Canada here today. Pitted against Jack Wright, of Montreal, Dominion titleholder, Lacoste chopped and overhanded his way to a 6-3, 6-3 win.

Coupled with Herbert L. Bowman, of New York, Lacoste played exceptionally again and the Wimbledon Nunnas team sustained a 6-3, 6-3 defeat.

In the other singles match Bowman defeated Nunnas, 6-1, 6-4.

Maloney Is Matched For Bout With Tom Heeney, New Zealand

Chess Match Is Adjourned At Midnight

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 23.—The fourth game in the world's championship chess match between Jose R. Capablanca, of Cuba, the titleholder, and Alexander Alekhine, of Russia, the challenger, was adjourned shortly before midnight to-night after forty moves.

The game at adjournment was so even that experts were divided in their opinions. Some thought Capablanca had a slight advantage, but the majority inclined to the opinion that a draw would result when play is resumed tomorrow evening.

Curtain Will Rise On 1927-28 Soccer Season Here Today

Six Football Clubs Will Be in Action in Three Fixtures This Afternoon—Victoria City and Esquimalt in Feature Attraction on Card

The curtain will be lifted today on the 1927-28 local soccer season, when teams in the Victoria and District Football League take the field for the first time. Six clubs, an increase of two over last year, will function in the senior loop.

Today's fixtures are: Victoria City vs. Esquimalt, at the Royal Athletic Park.

Victoria Wests vs. 16th Canadian Scottish, at Work Point.

Saanich Thistles vs. Five C's, at Beacon Hill.

All games will start at 3 p.m.

One of the big features of the season about to open will be the number of new faces, which speaks strongly for the hold that the round ball game is taking in the city. Youth will be served this year in the senior circuit, not only with the Five C's, a junior team playing their first season in senior company, and the Saanich Thistles, for the greater part composed of youngsters, but among the other clubs.

The sprinkling of the younger players will be much in evidence.

WELL-BALANCED CARD

The feature attraction of the well-balanced card will be the Victoria City-Esquimalt fixture, when two old rivals of many a hectic soccer struggle clash at the Royal Athletic Park.

The Dockers, who last season clearly demonstrated that they were "cocks of the walk," are coming back this year with a formidable team and one that will need plenty of watching.

Their opponents, Victoria City, have gathered together a good selection of players and intend making it going a little hot for the remainder of the clubs.

The Saanich Thistles have made little or no change in their team of last year. They have a fast aggression, with every man a determined worker, and today they should give the Five C's a merry battle.

The Five C's, making their debut in the senior circuit, present a pretty picture to the soccer-following public. In addition to a number of first-class junior players, they have in their line-up Rex Shanks, who has for a few seasons been playing senior company, and the Quinlan boys, on the first line of attack.

THE VICTORIA WESTS

The Victoria Wests, an old club in the senior loop, will open the season with a battle against the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, who are making their debut in the round ball game.

The Greenhills will work Robinson, a former Hudson's Bay player, and Brown, a former Tillamook, in the forward line.

Last year these lads performed in the Wednesday League and made a creditable showing. What they will do in the Saturday League remains to be seen.

The 16th Canadian Scottish will field a team of which very little is known, but reports are to the effect that the Militiamen have some good material.

THE LINE-UPS

Today's line-ups are announced as follows: City—Jack Rogers, Campbell and Glancy; George Preston, Bob Preston and Bowman; Herb Cummings, Archie Campbell, Bissell, Bedford and Cameron.

Esquimalt—Bridges; Joe Watt and DeCosta; Hosmer, Darrell Mesher and T. Smith; Bob Stewart, John Watt, Burnett, "Toots" Plump and Wagland.

Saanich Thistles—Hetherington; Harper and Price; Miller, Joe Crowe and Jim Crowe; Fyng, Saville, Burns, Minnie and Essler.

16th Canadian Scottish—Straith; Dyer and Grant; Harrison, Harwood and Woodridge; Reg. Clarkson, T. Carey, G. Carter, J. Jackson and Stuart.

Five C's—McDonald; Moulton and Hood; Sutton, Viggers and Sinkinson; Sutton, Brynjolfson, Eric

Quinton, Eden Quinton and Viggers.

Victoria Wests—Geddes; Dunn and Allen; Paasmore, Feden and Popham; Sherratt, Collins, Robinson, Brown and Mulachy.

UMPIRES UNDER FIRE IN MAJORS

Modern Baseball Built on Fact That Rowdism Has Been Stamped Out and Arbiters Is a Czar

There has been a lot of talk of poor umpiring this season, comments Daniel in The New York Telegram. Not in years has there been so much clamor against umpires as there has been this Summer. It is understood that the question came up at the recent meeting of the National League, and that the complaints centered on the older men.

There has been some bad umpiring, but not more than any other season. The situation here has been aggravated by the fact that some palpable errors have been made and that most of these have been at the expense of the Giants.

However, taking it by and large, the umpiring has been about average. With three men on the field, the possibility of error should be reduced to a minimum, but some of the players hold that the new system is not as effective as that with two umpires. The old guard stands staunchly in favor of only one arbiter.

"The more umpires, the more division of responsibility and the more carelessness," said a veteran player the other day.

Modern baseball is built on the fact that rowdism has been stamped out and the umpire is a czar. This is fine and dandy. But it is not so good for the game, as it makes for dead pan baseball and a feeling of self-satisfaction and smugness among umpires.

WILLY MOORE MAY PROVE YANKEES' ACE IN HOLE

Relief Twirler, Who Had Hard Time Getting Into Big Leagues, Fine Emergency Man for World's Series, George Moriarty Believes

By GEORGE MORIARTY
Manager of Detroit baseball team, former big league third baseman, and for ten years an American League umpire. (Copyright, 1927, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The name Willy Moore is on the tongue of every fan interested in the world series, because the Yankees' chances to become champions of the universe may depend upon the relief work of this great emergency twirler.

Moore is one of the few players to arrive in the big leagues after a long period of rust in the bush at all usually rises to the class AA loops for trial, but Willy Moore was never that fortunate. He displayed his wares in the Texas League several years, then headed downhill to an obscure circuit.

THIRTY-FIVE VICTORIES

Last season for the Greenville Club of the South Atlantic League, Moore hung up thirty-five victories, a truly remarkable record in any company where base hits represent bread and butter. Even after that iron-man achievement, I am told that every manager in the South looked on with frigid indifference as far as a purchase price was concerned.

The major league scouts passed up the big fellow in a wholesale manner and it appeared as if the odds were all against him. Finally, Ed. Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, decided there should be some merit in Moore's victory column. Mr. Barrow did not even see Moore wind up or pitch one ball, but purchased him on a pure long-shot basis. A few paltry thousands turned the transaction.

During the training season Moore attracted no more attention than the average busher. It was not until Miller Huggins employed him as a relief pitcher in a one-sided game that his real possibilities reached the surface. Each trial led to a succeeding change, and very soon the baseball world and American League clubs in particular began to ask: "Who is this Willy Moore person of the Yanks?"

HIS "SINKER" BALL

Moore's chief stock-in-trade is what the ballplayers refer to as a "sinker." This odd delivery has much of the action of the spitball without the application of saliva. It is snapped off the fingers with a sideways twist of the wrist, and must be kept around the knees to be effective.

Many easy grounders are rolled off the bats as a result of the "sinker," because the batsmen continually stop the ball. The "sinker" looks like a straight, fast ball until it reaches the plate, then, in the last few feet, it takes a sudden and compelling downward course.

It seems to have a fascinating effect upon the batter, and forces him to "chase" it when it is a badly pitched ball.

Miller Huggins freely admits that he received a great "break" when Willy Moore was ushered into the Yankees' fold. The average manager is obliged to choose from two to three bull-pen workers when the pinch arrives, while Huggins merely beckons to Willy Moore, and his worries are ended.

BULKY MR. MOORE

While due credit for the Yankee "unway" proclivities can rightfully be divided among Rube Gehrige, Lazzeri, Meusel, Coughlin, et al., do not forget to insert a photograph of the bulky Mr. Moore in the Yankees' hall of fame for 1927. If the National League champions succeed in knocking him all over the lot, they will have accomplished a batting feat that the heavy-hitting Tigers, Athletics and Senators found well-nigh impossible.

Duncan Badminton Club Will Start Play on October 1

DUNCAN, Sept. 23.—The annual general meeting of the Duncan Badminton Club was held last evening at the Agricultural Hall. There were about forty members present. The financial statement showed the club to be in a satisfactory condition, having finished the season with a slight credit balance after having paid off liabilities of sixty dollars from the previous year.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Col. Sheridan-Rice, president; Col. Heppenstall, first vice-president; Major Gernet, second vice-president; Mr. J. B. Aitken, secretary-treasurer; Miss Blythe, Mr. L. T. Price and Mr. S. J. Westcott, executive committee. The tea committee will consist of Mrs. Blythe, Mrs. Smythe and Mrs. Roberts.

Play will commence on Saturday, October 1. Playing members are restricted to seventy in number, and applications for membership from new members will be received until this limit has been reached.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the retiring officers.

LACROSSE LEADERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—It is proposed to form an international federation governing lacrosse, embracing all the countries in which the game is played, for the purpose of codifying the rules. In this country and England lacrosse is fast and open. The heavy felt pads and protected armor afforded in Canada are unknown in Great Britain and the United States, where the game is confined very largely to colleges.

PRO FOOTBALL TO BE FASTER

TWELVE CLUBS WILL PLAY IN NEWLY COMBINED CIRCUIT IN STATES

Increased Competition Expected to Result in Better Brand of Football and Larger Crowds

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Professional football in the National League this Fall will be much faster than in previous years, because where there were twenty-nine clubs in the National and American circuits last year, there are now only twelve, the pick of both leagues, according to Dr. Harry A. March, secretary of the New York Giants and representative of the Eastern clubs at the meeting in Chicago, which completed the amalgamation of the rival circuits.

TEAMS SCATTERED

The American League, under William (Big Bill) Edwards, started with eight clubs last season, while the National League opened with twenty-one, scattered through the East and South, with a large number being through the Mid-West, where professional football has been popular for a number of years. New York had three clubs, as did Chicago, having two National and one American eleven.

In the newly combined circuit under the presidency of Joseph P. Carr, of Columbus, Ohio, only the strongest cities have been retained, and with over 300 veteran players and a record number of newcomers who wish to take up professional football, the outlook for a particularly fast game is bright.

SETTLE DOWN

Requirements for franchises, guarantees and other financial arrangements in connection with the handling of major league football have been tightened, and with the elimination of the disastrous war between the rival circuits, the owners who dropped out of the league must be hopeful that there is a future of prosperity ahead of them.

The abundance of players left as a result of the elimination of seven franchises has enabled the owners to cut down on salaries, and increased competition will result in a better brand of football and higher attendance.

The lateral pass and other changes, which will go into effect with the opening of the intercollegiate football season this Fall, also will be adopted in full by the professionals.

RICHARDS WILL COACH JAPANESE

American Pro Tennis Star Plans Later to Play in Australia, India and France

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Vincent Richards, United States Davis Cup player until he joined the ranks of the professionals, will sail from San Francisco for Japan, next month, and will act as coach for Japanese younger tennis players, at the invitation of the Japanese Tennis Association, until November 15.

Howard Kinsey and Karel Koseluh will join Richards in Japan, and the three will go to Australia, India and France for exhibition contests.

BASEBALLERS ATTEND FIRST GATHERING

Victoria Commercial Ball League Holds Successful Banquet—Winning Teams in Circuit Receive Prizes

SEASON IS BROUGHT TO FITTING CLOSE

R. V. Ramsdale and George Beck Present Cups—Fine Sporting Spirit Shown by Clubs in Loop

The Victoria and District Commercial Baseball League brought a most successful season to a fitting conclusion last night in the form of a banquet at the Princess Tea Rooms, Yates Street. Members of the league and holders of the McGavin Trophy, players of the Tillamook, winners of the Red's Service Station Cup, Spencers, and Crests' clubs comprised the happy throng.

Due to the absence, on account of sickness, of P. B. Richardson, the president, the chair was taken by T. H. Riggs, manager of the league champions, and vice-president of the league. He performed in his usual capable manner.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Riggs made reference to the sickness of the congenial president and wished him an early recovery. The Victoria and District Commercial Baseball League had been an outstanding success in the season just completed, said the chairman, and great credit for this was due to the painstaking efforts of the energetic officials. Then, again, the spirit of friendship had been a prominent feature of this season's play, and the members of the various teams had demonstrated that they had a mission to perform in proving themselves real sports.

"It is a great pleasure," concluded Mr. Riggs, "to be able to stand up here tonight before this fine crowd of young sportsmen and speak of the sporting spirit shown by the clubs in the league."

PRESENTS TROPHY

R. V. Ramsdale, donor of the Red's Service Station Trophy, presented the massive silver cup to Pat Steel, captain of the Tillamook. In making the presentation, the speaker spoke of the pleasure it gave him to assist the younger element of the city in the promotion of clean amateur sport. Pat Steel thanked the donor on behalf of his colleagues, and stated that his team would repeat next season. Members of the Tillamook team each received miniature trophies.

George Beck, prominent baseball figure, presented the McGavin Cup to Frank Lines, captain of the Sidney team. Mr. Beck conveyed Mr. McGavin's regrets on being unable to be present, but he stated that Mr. McGavin hoped he would see the pleasure of meeting the boys at a later date.

Frank Lines, catcher of the champion aggregation, in accepting the coveted silverware, thanked Mr. Beck, and asked him to convey to Mr. McGavin the thanks of his team for the kind assistance that had been given the league in the form of the McGavin Trophy. Players of the team each received miniature cups.

During the evening an excellent programme of entertainment was rendered, with such popular artists as Miss Crossley, vocalist; Tom Obee, comedian; Buster Brown, banjoist; and Len Acres, pianist, contributing.

WORLD'S SERIES DUCATS ON SALE

Pittsburgh Preparing for Huge Crowds at Forbes Field Next Month

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—World series tickets for games one, two and six, to be played in the National League city, went on sale at Forbes Field here today on the strength of the Pirates' commanding lead over the New York Giants.

The Pirates must play seven more games, and while critics in general concede that they are just about "in," Barney Dreyfuss, owner, and Donie Bush, manager, are making no claims as yet to the right to meet the Yankees in the post-season classic.

Nevertheless, tickets went on sale at the request of the league advisory board. Only mail orders will be accepted. Purchasers must take seats for three games at $5.50 each for the grandstand and $6.50 for box seats.

COMPSTON WINS BIG GOLF PRIZE

WALTON HEATH, Eng. Sept. 23.—Archie Compston, veteran British golfer, today defeated Jim Braid in the final of the £1000 tournament which is regarded as the professional golf championship of Great Britain. Compston won 8 and 7.

Indians Won by Spotting the Spill Sign

BASEBALLERS ON 22nd BASE SPILL CATCHER'S SIGN, TIPPING OFF BATTER BY MEANS OF HAND SIGNS. THUMB HIDDEN WAS SIGN FAST BEING PICKED UP BY BATTER.

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Trying to catch the other team's sign is always an important feature of the opening game of a world series. When the great old Athletics started a world series, the first three or four men to get on the field were the catcher and the pitcher, and they tried to get the catcher's sign and then relay them to the batter by holding out their hands, thumbs showing or hidden.

In 1914 the Boston Braves broke up this strategy by adopting the combination sign in which the catcher gave three signals with his fingers, any one of which counted, according to the system.

Stealing the catcher's sign was passed off largely after that series, but getting the other fellows' signs often figures heavily in the classic. Often an infielder leaning one way or the other will tip off the kind of ball being pitched. If the shortstop leans to his right when a right-handed batter is up, you can figure that a curve is coming. If he leans to his left, it will be a fast one.

Pete Kilduff by dipping dust whenever Burrell Grimes was to pitch a splitter in the 1920 Brooklyn-Cleveland series. Unpinned off the Indians when a splitter was coming, and they let it pass and clouted his fast one, winning the series by beating the Brooklyn spitball ace simply because they got onto a spitball sign.

Western League Will Hold Present Loop

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 23.—After a six-hour conference between eight Western League club owners, President Dale announced that there would be no change in the 1928 circuit.

This announcement dispelled the rumor that Tulsa and Oklahoma City were to withdraw in favor of the Texas League.

Cumberland Badminton Prospects Are Bright

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 23.—The annual general meeting of the Imperial Badminton Club was held last night, and prospects for a very successful season were in evidence. After the Secretary's report had been read and adopted, the election of officers took place, the following being elected to guide the destinies of the club: President, Mr. F. O. Brock; vice-president, Mr. Edwin Bayly; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Hector Stewart; entertainment committee, Messrs. H. Idens, Ben Hughes, H. E. Murray, F. R. Shennstone and Messdames Gregg and Bayly; tournament committee, Mr. Harry Idens and Miss Woods.

The season will commence on October 4, and extend until February 28, with play nights the same as last year, Tuesdays and Fridays, from 7:30 p.m. until 11 p.m.

In presenting the annual report, Mrs. F. R. Shennstone, the secretary, announced that after paying all expenses, the club was still indebted to the Imperial Pavilion for rent.

GOLF CONTEST FALL FEATURE

LADIES WILL GATHER AT HARRISON HOT SPRINGS ON OCTOBER 14

Presidents of the Ladies' Golf Clubs of B.C. and the State of Washington Are Patrons

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, Sept. 23.—One of the interesting fall features will be a ladies' golf tournament, to be held at the Harrison Hot Springs resort from October 14 to 16 inclusive, under the patronage of the presidents of the Ladies' Golf Clubs of British Columbia and the State of Washington.

Handsome prizes are being donated by the Harrison Hot Springs Hotel Company, and all the clubs of British Columbia and the Washington State Women's Golf Association have been invited.

In September and October, British Columbia usually enjoys what is termed an "Indian Summer," and together with the fall colorings and the hills, the tournament will be of great interest to all golf enthusiasts.

On Friday, ladies' singles, best net and best gross scores, will be played; on Saturday, ladies' two ball foursomes, first and second prizes for best net score; and with the anticipation of the husbands joining their wives over the weekend, mixed foursomes, first and second prizes for best net score will be played on Sunday.

NORWEGE WINS FINAL EVENT

NORWEGIAN YACHT CAPTURES SEAWANAKA CHALLENGE CUP FROM CLYTIE

Winner Clips 3 Minutes 27 Seconds Off Time Set by Opponent Over Twelve-Mile Course

OYSTER BAY, N.Y., Sept. 23.—The sixth and final race for the Seawanhaka International Challenge Cup, representing supremacy in the small boat class, was won today by the six-metre yacht Norge, entered by a syndicate headed by Prince Olaf of Norway. The Norge covered the twelve-mile course in 3 minutes 27 seconds faster time than did the Clytie, the American defender.

International series was carried over to three out of five victories. The Clytie was in the lead at the end of the four races, having won two while the Norge took one, and another was thrown out because neither boat finished in the required time of four hours.

The Norge won the fourth race and today's victory clinched the trophy for the invader, which was sailed by Magnus Konow, of the Royal Norwegian Yacht Club.

FRIENDLY SOCCER

The Navy and Esquimalt Juniors will play a friendly soccer game at Victoria West Park today at 2:30 p.m. The Esquimalt team will line up as follows: McVane; Edwards and Williams; Hicks, Thompson and Standen; Woolcock, Smith, Stewart, Barnswell and Bain. Reserve, West and Bayliss.

Saanich Rovers Juniors will hold a practice at the High School ground today at 2:30 p.m.

Women's Auxiliary Will Help Mission

COBBLE HILL, Sept. 23.—A meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Church was held at the home of Mrs. Wilkinson, Mill Bay, yesterday. There were ten members present. Mrs. H. P. Tooker presiding. A letter from Mrs. Alan Greene, of the Columbia Coast Mission, thanked the W.A. for their assistance, and asked for help in connection with his two new churches at Squirrel's Cove and Manson's Landing. The meeting expressed itself in entire sympathy with this request, and will attend to it after members have completed their plan of assistance for the boys and girls' Autumn clothing in this mission. The president asked for help in providing funds to assist in the purchase of a suitable chair for the chapel of St. John's Church, the estimated cost being $32.50. It was decided to contribute $20 of this amount, some members of the Auxiliary contributing a further sum of $3. A report was read dealing with the recent garden fête, which provided the sum of $97.15. Mrs. Wilkinson was the tea hostess. The next meeting will be held in St. John's vestry on October 27.

Rally Day Service

SOOKE, Sept. 23.—Rally Day service will be held on Sunday at Knox Presbyterian Church, at 11 a.m. The service will be conducted by the Rev. S. Lundie.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

COLWOOD, Sept. 23.—Service will be held in St. John's Church on Sunday, September 25, at 7 o'clock. Panama hats brought as high as $75 each in Ecuador in the past season.

TWO FLOORS OF STOBART-PEASE BLOCK LEASED

A lease has been taken on the third and fourth floors of the Stobart-Pease Building by Mr. R. B. Hill, for twenty years a resident of Edmonton. Mr. Hill will have the forty rooms that are located on those floors renovated and refurnished. He will then operate the top floors of the building as an apartment.

Miss Budd, formerly of the Y.W.C.A., will be the housekeeper. The floors that have been leased by Mr. Hill, were formerly occupied by the Y.W.C.A.

Coming here during the Provincial Fair week, Mr. Hill was attracted to this city and decided to take up his residence. Looking around for an investment, he leased this portion of the Stobart-Pease Building through Messrs. Pooley & Davis, agents for the owners. The rooms will be furnished by David Spencer, Limited.

Seattle Minister Will Speak Here

Mr. D. Reeves Shinn, a minister in the Society of Friends, will speak to the congregation of the local branch of the society on Sunday at the Fern Street meeting house. He will speak at both morning and evening services and address a meeting to be held in the meeting hall tonight at 7 o'clock. For the past five years Mr. Shinn has been stationed in Seattle.

MOISTURE IN AIR SAVES FUEL COST

Question of Health and Humidity Raised in Discussion of Heating Problem

The extreme importance of maintaining sufficient moisture in the indoor air during the heating season has never been fully realized in Canada. Of course, everyone knows in a general way that the atmosphere of our houses is much too dry in the winter months, but very few realize the extent to which the condition affects our health and comfort, not to mention the increased consumption of fuel and destruction to house furnishings through cracking and shrinking. Insulated houses without artificial means of humidification are particularly liable to develop unhealthy living conditions in winter.

HEALTH AND HUMIDITY

The human nose performs all the duties of a well-ordered air conditioning plant in a house, acting as a filter for dust and bacteria, heating the air which enters the lungs and humidifying it to forty per cent relative humidity. If not, the nose is called on to furnish large amounts of moisture, resulting in the drying up of mucous membranes and nasal secretions and the subsequent irritation and swelling of the tender membranes of the throat and nose. This frequently causes headaches and dizziness and prepares a receptive field for disease germs.

The New York State Commission, in its investigation of ventilation conditions in the schools of the state, found that it was able to reduce the temperature in the school rooms from 78 degrees Fahrenheit to 68 degrees by the proper humidification of the air, with perfect maintenance of comfort. That is, the effective temperature was lowered ten degrees. The children's inclination to work was estimated to have increased thirty-five per cent by the cooler atmosphere. In an industrial investigation this commission proved that excessive heat promoted fatigue. Subjects under test, working on piece-work, receiving a bonus for quantity of work in addition to flat rate, did thirteen per cent more work at 68 degrees than at 75 degrees.

FUEL SAVED

The excessively high temperature required for comfort in dry air, wastes considerable heat. Temperatures of 75 degrees to 80 degrees are common in houses with low humidity, whereas only 68 degrees Fahrenheit is necessary for comfort in a properly moistened atmosphere. In houses, particularly those not insulated, the raising of the temperature from 70 degrees Fahrenheit to 80 degrees Fahrenheit is usually difficult, and requires forcing of fires with a subsequent loss of efficiency in the burning of coal. Although the evaporation of water to produce proper humidification requires more heat, a considerable amount of fuel economy is effected owing to the lower temperature required for comfort.

EXPERTS DIFFER
Considerable controversy has arisen between various authorities on humidity conditions as to the actual amount of fuel saved in this way. Some investigators contend that very little saving is accomplished, while others maintain that economies amounting to fifteen per cent are possible. The general consensus, according to an analysis by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior (Ottawa), whose engineers have made a study of this subject, is that a net saving of from five to ten per cent of fuel may be made in the average house by maintaining the air to a proper degree. Householders with problems of this description on their hands, would do well to get in touch with the above service.
